The Text-Worlds Special Collection

The Text Worlds Special Collection has its home in Western Bank library at the University of Sheffield. Visits to the collection can be arranged through the University's Special Collections and Archives Department. Further details are available here:

http://www.shef.ac.uk/library/special

The following catalogue is organised into two sections: those items housed within the special collection itself, and those items housed elsewhere within the University's libraries. The list is limited to academic works and publications only and does not include the personal items and memorabilia relating to the late Professor Paul Werth which also form part of the Text Worlds Special Collection.

Items housed within the Text Worlds Special Collection

Werth, Paul (ms) ‘Speech bubbles and text worlds’, unpublished article.

Items housed elsewhere within the University of Sheffield libraries

Items yet to be acquired

If you have a copy of any of the following and would be kind enough to consider a donation to the collection, please contact Dr Joanna Gavins: j.gavins@sheffield.ac.uk

Werth, Paul (1979) ‘If linear order isn’t the base then where is it?” in J. Meisel and M. Pam (eds) Linear Order and Generative Theory, Amsterdam: John Benjamins.
